Thursday, Sep 12
Gallery Talk 11:30 – 12:30 pm,

This exhibition of thirty-nine color and monochromatic digital prints contrasts the photographer Ka Chuen Yeung's vision of a lost and impermanent China in the late 1990s with a new perspective, captured through the faces of China's citizens today. These images epitomize a widespread urbanization in China and a discernable battle between modernization and the traditional past. An immigrant from Hong Kong, Ka Chuen Yeung is an award-winning photographer based in Dallas.
